Hi Large
Just dropping a few lines to say hello,
and to let you know that I arrived in England safe and in one piece and I'll add a little, also my good health. Large I want a slitting but things sure are tough here. We can't get much water and when they hit you have some cold and enough to drink so it's kinda of tough and I understand things will get tougher. Water drinking down there is great dry run in fact most every thing they have dry run. I'm compared to what we got. Tell Capt. Whelan and the good hand help. Tell Nedra I'll trade some more for his any day. Nothin but a large your advice and help. H. sure enough handy. I should the money and couldn't get a more I spoke more so that just T.S. I met the kids from Dao. you know who I mean. He paid to tell you he said hello. Say the days sure are long it don't get dark until 8:00 at night and we only get a little sleep cause hell we can't sleep when it's light. The weather sure is bad so far but as long as I care the good food can keep it up there. My G. I back as hurtin so I guess all close. Tell the boys
they are just dry. your Russian friend

Wells Gang: Dear Mother:

Just a few lines from Dear old England, to let you know I am now drawing that 10% overdraw pay, the hard way. I am well as can be expected and am anxiously waiting my first job to look over these English books and see what is to be seen. We had a quiet and pleasant trip across. I lost Post Brothers, in Ft. Meade, so it's hard to tell where he is now. Tell all the fellows to keep on the ball over there because once they leave their things change quite a bit. I had a chance to see Penny, in New York City, before I left the coast up to spend a week and with me, boy or boy. There isn't very much news you can send from here but you had better stay there as long as possible. Oh those week end passes. Goodbye. Well at least I can now wear a service ribbon if nothing else, any medal excepted, except the Laureate heart. Well I guess I must end it for now Best of luck to all. Love, Dick and the rest, Ed.

Little Miss Muffet sat on a tuffet,
Eating of curds and whey;
There came a spider, and sat down beside her
And frightened Miss Muffet away.

Little Jack Horner sat in a corner,
Eating a Christmas pie :
He put in his thumb, and pulled out a plum,
And said, "What a good boy am I!"

Little Bo-Peep has lost her sheep,
And can't tell where to find them;
Leave them alone and they'll come home,
And bring their tails behind them.

Bring Back My School Days to Me

When beautiful school days are over
And grown men and women are we,
Tho' gone, we will think of them ever—
O, bring back my school days to me !

We long for our playmates of childhood
Who played with us day after day,
And little we dreamt how we loved them
Until they had gone far away.

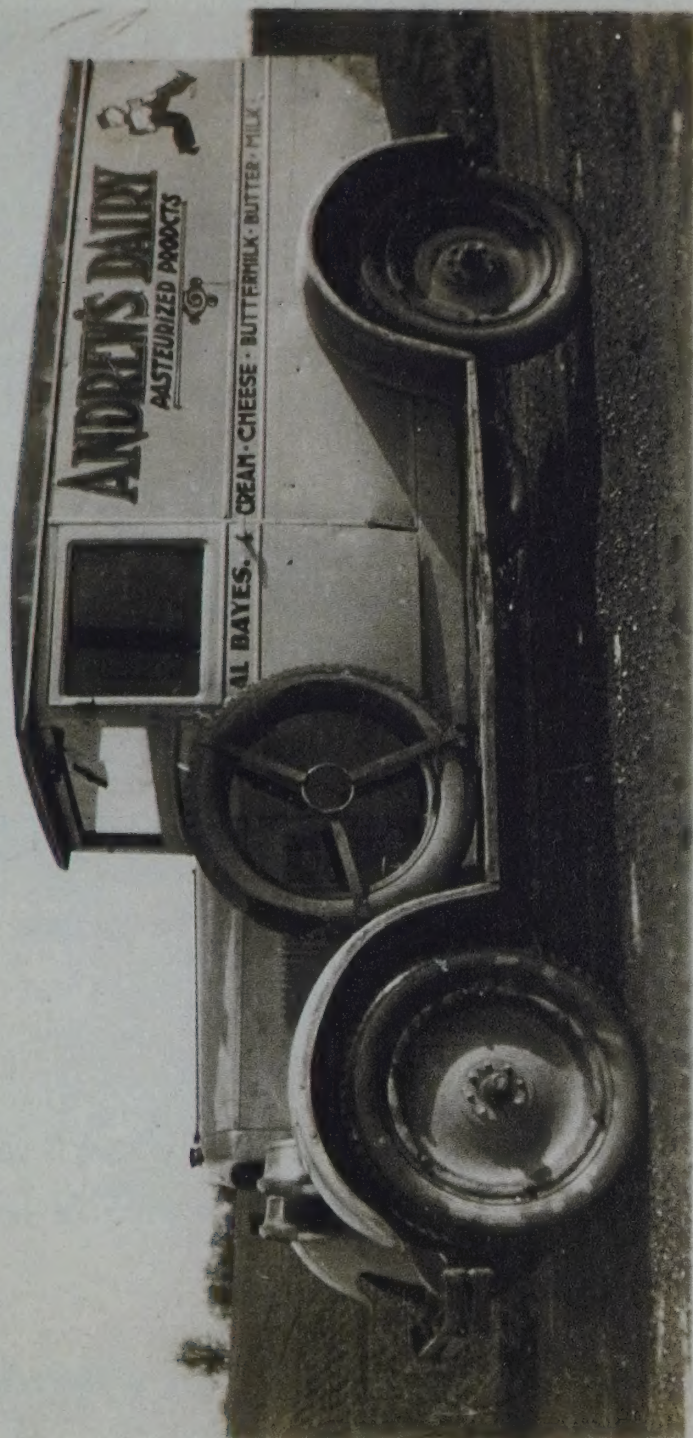

O, beautiful, beautiful school days—
O, could your sweet mem'ry remain,
Thro' all of our pleasures and sorrows,
And bring back our school days again !

Give love, and love to your life will flow,
A strength in your utmost need ;
Have faith and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your word and deed.
For life is the mirror of king and slave,
'Tis just what we are and do ;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.
—Madeline Bridges.

Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn,
The sheep's in the meadow, the cow's in the corn.
Where's the boy who takes care of the sheep?
Under the haystack fast asleep!

MY GARAGE

My home garage is rather tight
And I'll confess it's quite a sight,
I'll bet you've never seen the like,
There's hardly room to store a bike.

A rake or two, a spade, a hoe,
Lawn mower that has ceased to go,
Some flower pots and old tin pails,
That stand around or hang on nails.

Two fishing poles, a baseball bat,
An ancient raincoat, a beat-up hat,
Seed catalogues, an almanac,
A chair that long has lost its back.

Some empty bottles to return,
And maybe trash that I should burn,
Wheelbarrow, chains, a ladder too,
And tools for every job I do.

There's only one thing that is wrong,
I wish that it was twice as long,
And if it just was twice as wide,
I'd park my Oldsmobile inside.

A. C. Snyder, Bethlehem, Pa/

No Light Tonite

14 August 45
Philippines.

I just received your letter,
Asking why I didn't write.
So I'll note to you I'm sending,
For the moon is out real bright.
I'm sending all my love to you,
And you are in my prayers each night.
And you truly aren't forgotten
But I'm glad the moon was out tonite.

Don't think that you're forgotten,
Because I didn't write.
It's just that I was busy,
And I had no light at night.
It's hard I know to understand,
That order of no lights tonight
So please don't think that you're forgotten
Just because I didn't write.

I know you've had your hands out,
And they are far from dull.
I know that you are busy,
Making aeroplanes and shells.
You've given us a navy, that will Bring us victory in the light.
But please don't think that you're forgotten
For it reads no lights tonite.

MY GARAGE

My home garage is rather tight
And I'll confess it's quite a sight,
I'll bet you've never seen the like,
There's hardly room to store a bike.

A rake or two, a spade, a hoe,
Lawn mower that has ceased to go,
Some flower pots and old tin pails,
That stand around or hang on nails.

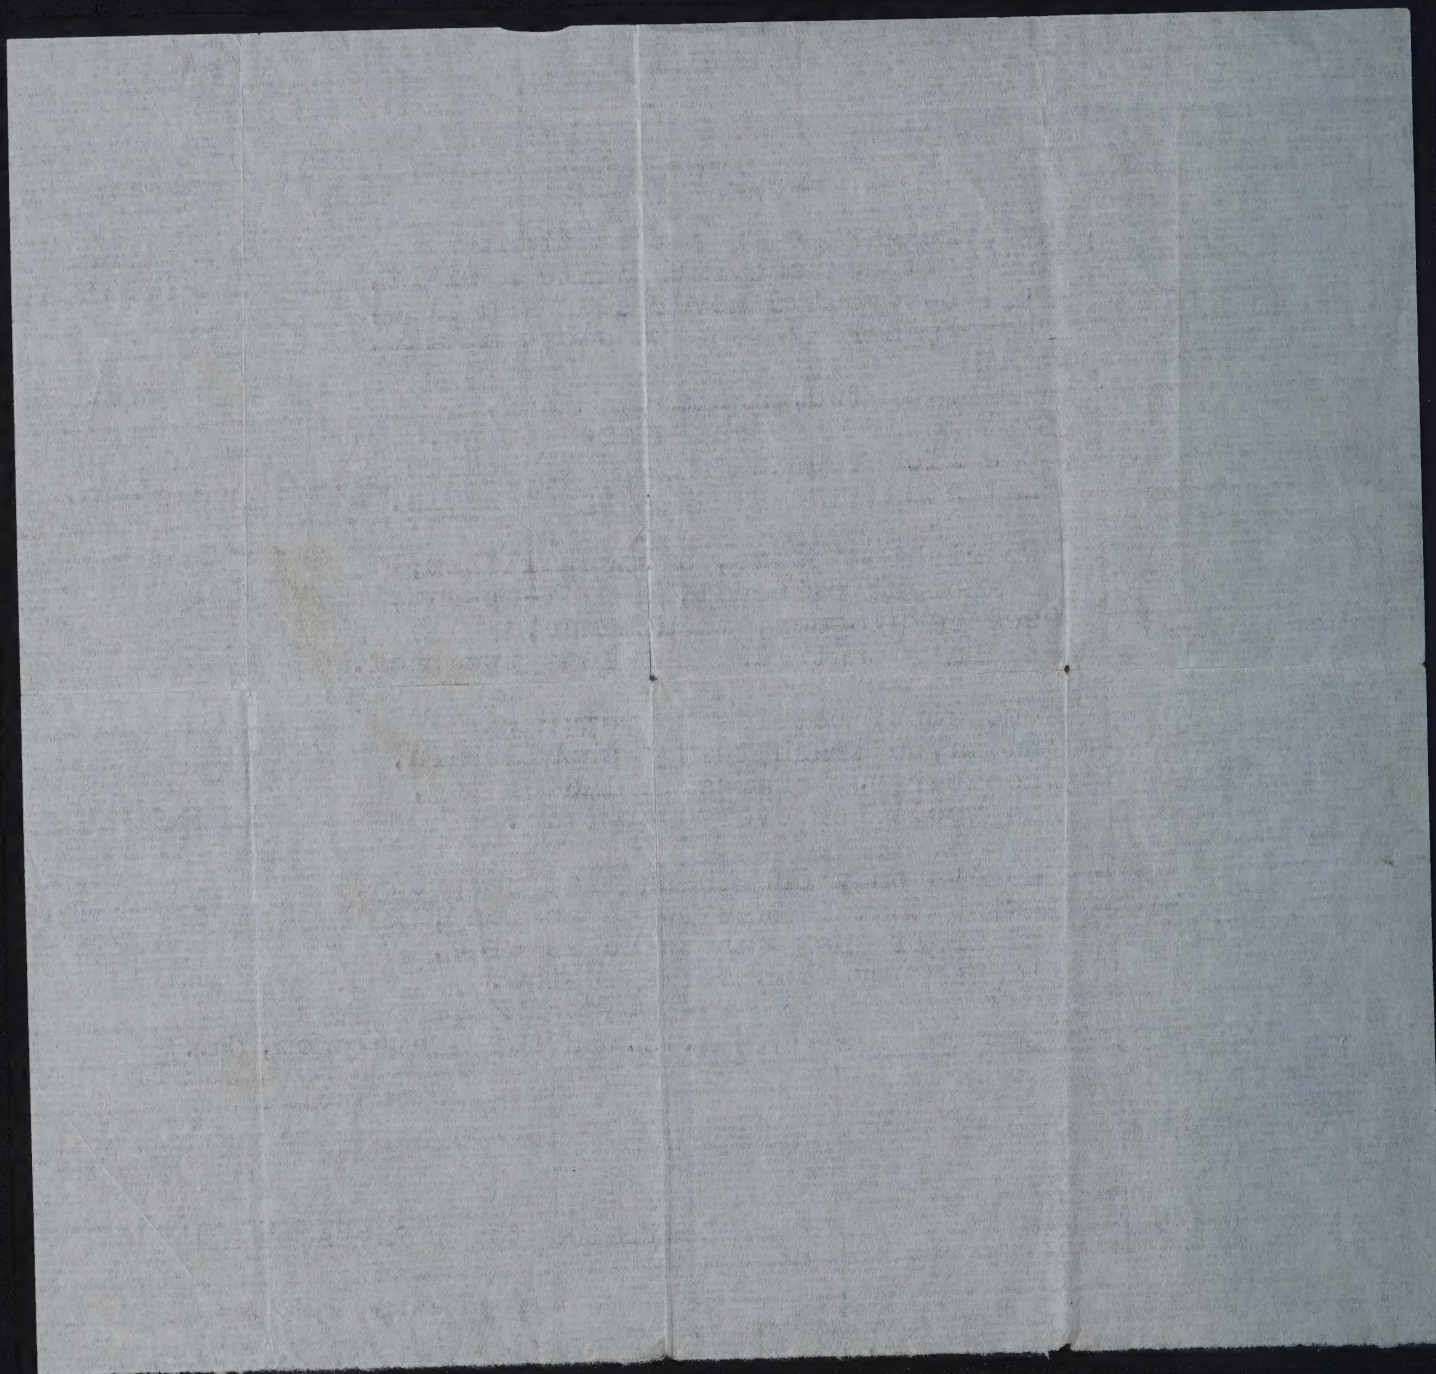

Two fishing poles, a baseball bat,
An ancient raincoat, a beat-up hat,
Seed catalogues, an almanac,
A chair that long has lost its back.

Some empty bottles to return,
And maybe trash that I should burn,
Wheelbarrow, chains, a ladder too,
And tools for every job I do.

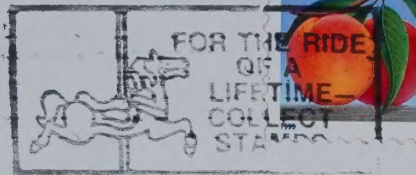

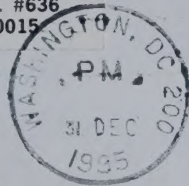

There's only one thing that is wrong,
I wish that it was twice as long,
And if it just was twice as wide,
I'd park my Oldsmobile inside.

How will you spend

The big tax cut that we are all waiting for may not be as big as everyone thinks. According to the Citizens for Tax Justice, nobody has any idea exactly what kind of deduction to expect. But we are becoming more cautious as Congress is more confused.

I conducted a survey on how people planned to spend their cut if the tax plan goes into effect.

William Byrd said, "I'm going to buy a bag of French fries at McDonald's. It's something I've been wanting to do for a long time, but my family budget couldn't handle it."

Edmond Gascoigne Thompson said, "I'm in the lower bracket so I don't expect mega bucks. Whatever I get I'm going to put into a shoeshine. It's a safe investment, and I think the Republicans would approve of it."

Irving X. Burg told me that if he got a tax cut he would give it to the Republican Party in exchange for a George Bush bumper sticker.

Not all the tax benefits will go for luxuries such as plastic shopping bags and frozen yogurt.

Will you remember the Summer of Seventy Three
When you and Anna visited Mary and me
Will you say that the sheets were not clean
And the Eats by Sally were much too lean

Will you say that the going was a little bit rough
That things in general made it a bit too tough
Or will it be told I'd do it over
And spin down again and go to old Dover

Of Course there would be Salvarsan and Zoon

"Small fruit production has the potential to be a profitable enterprise on a small acreage. This profit potential, however, comes with a fair amount of risk." This was the conclusion of Jayson K. Harper, professor of ag economics, who addressed vegetable growers at the State Horticultural meetings in Hershey on Feb. 2, 1995. He cautioned that producers must be prepared to not only produce a high quality crop, but also be an active and aggressive marketer.

Initial investment is high for small fruits production and substantial animal cost of production requires growers to be able to financially weather the pre-productive years and annual cash flow. For those who can balance the demands of production and marketing, the future of fresh market small production looks good. Per capita fresh consumption of most small fruit is rising which bodes well for the continued strength of fresh market prices.

Soil Amendments

There has been a renewed interest in soil organic matter amendments for improving crop performance. Much of the early research focused on the ability of organic

TODAY'S READINGS

During the Easter Season, the first readings on Sunday are taken from the Acts of the Apostles. The second readings, which exhibit the spirit of joyous faith and sure hope of the season, are from the First Letter of Peter this year. The gospels, with one exception, are from the Gospel according to John.

In Acts, St. Luke continues the story of Jesus' life begun in his gospel by recording the spread of the Gospel from Jerusalem to the "ends of the earth." The early chapters of Acts contain three brief summaries which describe the life of the first Christians. In today's first reading (Acts 2:42-47), they had not completely separated from Judaism yet and still participated in the Temple liturgy. In their communal life, they devoted themselves to the teaching of the apostles, and centered their religious life on the eucharistic liturgy. They developed a system of distributing goods in which the wealthier among them sold their property to meet the needs of the poorer members. Many signs and wonders were accomplished through the apostles and the community grew in numbers. The response is "Give thanks to the Lord for he is good, his love is everlasting," and Psalm 118, which was also used during the Easter Vigil and on Easter Sunday.

The First Letter of Peter, from which the second reading (1 Peter 1:3-9) is taken, was written to strengthen the new Christians to whom it was addressed in the new life to which they had been introduced by baptism. Today's reading begins with what may be an early baptismal hymn. It goes on to note, in what may be part of a homily, that the new Christians have to suffer to strengthen their faith, and it reminds them that their faith did not depend on seeing Christ but on believing the Word as proclaimed by the Church.

Today's gospel (John 20:19-31) tells of two appearances of Christ to his disciples after the Resurrection, one on the first Easter Sunday evening, the second a week later. On Easter in the evening, Jesus appeared among the disciples gathered in the Upper Room even though the doors were locked. He established his identity by showing his wounded hands and side, and then he empowered the disciples to represent him in carrying on the work of salvation. On the Second Sunday of Easter, he appeared again. Thomas, who had not been present at the first appearance, had been somewhat skeptical about what had been told him. On seeing Jesus, he made the most explicit expression of faith to be found in the gospels. Jesus' response is addressed not to Thomas, who became a believer because he saw Jesus, but to all who believed or would believe, even though they had not seen him, to those who, as Peter says in the second reading, have not seen him but love him and believe in him.

SPONSOR OF THE WEEK: Thank you to Selective Personal Fitness, Inc. for sponsoring an ad in our weekly Bulletin.

NEXT WEEK'S READINGS: The readings for Masses on Sunday, April 21st, the Third Sunday of Easter, will be:

First Reading	Acts 2:14,22-28
Second Reading	1 Peter 1:17-21
Gospel	Luke 24:13-35

AVERAGE STANDARD SCORE 54.8

In 1955, norms of the high school level Tests of General Educational Development were established for a sample of 38,773 public high school seniors tested in April - June, 1955, just before graduation from a general (non-technical or non-trade) high school. The schools in the standardization sample were selected from the U.S. Office of Education mailing list of public high schools in the continental United States. These schools were so selected that their relative distribution by states (and by enrollment classes within states) was approximately the same as that for all public high schools in the country. A complete report on the 1955 G.E.D. Normative Study is included in the Examiner's Manual for the Tests of General Educational Development, High School Level, Revised Edition, 1956, a copy of which may be obtained from the Veterans' Testing Service of the American Council on Education, 1785 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

The following is an example of how a percentile rank might be interpreted: an examinee who achieves a percentile rank of 38 in any one test has achieved a score equal to or better than 38 of the standard group of 100 seniors tested in the standardization program.

Albert W. Bayes

Albert W. Bayes, 87, 15 Main Trail, Carroll Valley, Pa., died Saturday, Dec. 23, 1995, in St. Catherine's Nursing Center, Emmitsburg, Md.

Born in Farmer on Feb. 10, 1908, he was the son of Ella (Fickle) and Roy Bayes.

He was a 1930 graduate of Ohio Northern University, and was a member of Phi Mu Delta fraternity and of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Fairfield, Pa.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Bayes was a member of the Farmer American Legion and Bryan Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He had been employed as regional sales manager with the Rex Air Company.

Surviving are a sister, Roena Bayes of Carroll Valley, Pa.; two nephews, Darrell Bayes of Bryan and Darwin Bayes of Coldwater, Mich.; and a niece, Geneva Youse of Montpelier.

He was preceded in death by his wife, F. Mary (Parmarter) Bayes, in 1988. Graveside services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday in the Farmer Cemetery with the Rev. Father Charles Ritter of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Bryan officiating.

Friends may call in the Greenisen-Tilton & Rice Funeral Home-Bryan from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

connection between drugs and many defendants. "A 57-year-old businessman charged with a banking violation? A guy who gets arrested for selling eagle feathers? It doesn't make sense."

At the very least, it will be one more instance of Americans being asked to give up some of their privacy as part of the nation's war on drugs — something many people appear willing to do.

"The more government intrudes, the more it makes it sound as if it's reasonable to intrude," said Mary Cheh, a George Washington University law professor.

Earlier this year, the drug war was expanded to include student athletes. The Supreme Court ruled that public schools can require athletes to be tested for drugs even if they aren't suspected users. Such students have little expectation of privacy anyway, the court said.

The justices also have allowed drug testing of public employees in cases involving safety or security, such as railroad workers involved in train accidents even if they are not suspected of using illegal substances.

Drug testing is commonplace among private employers, where the Constitution's Fourth Amendment protection against unreasonable searches

Dear friends,

In the early years of our country, the first to officiate at funerals was the nurse, whose primary purpose was to lay out the dead. Then as such a person undertook to do more things for the deceased, he or she was called an 'undertaker'. Today, the term most commonly used is 'funeral director', although 'mortician' is also used in some areas.

Respectfully,

Millard S. Turner

cents more on July 1, 1997.

The measure now goes to the Senate, where the action on the minimum wage has been held up by Democratic resistance to GOP attempts to attach it to legislation strongly opposed by labor unions.

Senate Democratic leader Tom Daschle of South Dakota said he wanted to look at the House bill but said, "it looks like we may finally have a minimum wage bill the Senate can consider." Daschle said he hoped the Senate could act on joining Democrats in supporting it.

An even more crucial vote came several hours later when the House rejected, by 229-196, another amendment that would have exempted many small businesses from minimum wage standards.

Dear Brother,

Heard this on the radio driving to OH. Quote:
"Daw Ghatta was in Morgantown W. VA last night for his 50th high school class reunion. He certainly wasn't the bungling Barney Fife watched by so many for so many years. - Said he was very happy to be there one reason he didn't have to share the stage with anyone named Huber. He was his class President and voted most likely to succeed. - I thought you would like this tid bit.

Farmer C. S. O. Gets Letter From Bayes

Al Bayes, Farmer soldier in the southwest Pacific, writes:

Dear Folks: I sincerely want to thank you for your grand way of sending Christmas cheer to the boys and girls in service everywhere. Your very well packed box was ideal for everyone no matter where they are now. The pine cone wreath was well displayed at the entrance of our shack on Christmas and contents were truly enjoyed by all. I know the news you hear sometimes is very much disheartening. One thing you can count on is that every one is doing the job well that they have been called on to do.

I ran into Pvt. Van Poppel of Bryan in the same Co., while standing in mess line one evening, thru a little question bee that is very common anywhere you go.

I was talking to a friend from Toledo and one from Napoleon and Van asked me if I knew anyone in Bryan. I said yes I do. After talking about a good many people he asked me if I knew Holly Bayes in Bryan. I said yes, I know him very well. I said, do you know who I am and he said no. I told him Hollis was my brother. Again you can say you sometimes speak to people not knowing how close home they may be. There are many more just such incidents that have occurred in the past three years.

I want to thank you again for your kindness and wish you all the very best of everything good throughout the coming years. Greetings to all at home and those in service everywhere.

Always, Al Bayes.

Dear Sgt. Bayes,

I know this will bowl you over...because I'm not even supposed to know where you are. But, you see, I am working under a strange set-up here for awhile, and managed to find out where you are situated. (Clever people, these Chinese!)

My outfit is on bivouac, but comes back tomorrow nite. I spent the first four days and nights out with them, but was sent back in to operate the monitor radio station for the maneuvers. This, I'm told, was because I have been having considerable trouble with the ol' tummy. Anyway, our SCR-284 is set up in the orderly room, and Sgt. Pinkerton gave me your address when you wrote him.

Lt. Armstrong is up in Yankee-land at the moment, having left the "City of Wheeler" the first of the week to take unto himself a spouse. He told me the knot would be knotted on Saturday - which is today - so, I guess by now, life is just a bowl of cherries for him. (Gad! I made a joke!) Lt. Armstrong is a swell fellow, and I shall never forget him. I understand he returns to camp in about ten days...which should give him ample time for a slight case of makin' with the thing.

He is doing everything under the sun to see that I get over to the P. R. O., and I know if it's at all possible, I will go over there shortly. He is leaving no stone unturned. It's hard to believe that an officer would take the time to bother with just an ordinary buck private like me.

I have been a bit in the dumps since coming over to "D", because this outfit doesn't hold a candle to our old outfit, as you know. Some of the guys are swell, but we have a lot of "screw-ups", who act as the proverbial bad apples. Since I left "C", I have certainly learned what the word "restriction" means, through no fault of my own.

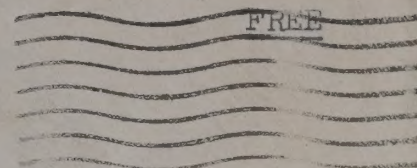

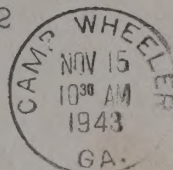

Better cut another inch off your hair, because we hear Col. Tracey came down to Blanding. Anyway, we know he left here, after a big send-off by his fellow officers. Dame Rumor has it that it was a party replete with Mickey Finns...but, you know how things do get around from latrine to latrine.

I have to sign off now, and make with a slight case of communications. Drop me a line when you can, and take care of yourself.

Your friend,

de

AN essential part of the graduation period is the time honored custom of the Graduation Gift, which is rich in sentiment as it is a token of love. Presented as it is at the threshold of a broader life it possesses a quality of reverence that ever admonishes the recipient, that as a token of respect, of friendship, and of love, it is one of lifetime's most cherished keepsakes
